Of the four Quarters of the Year:

And first of Winter.

THE Earth to Man hath giv'n (whereby he gains,
By Natures Art) her Bleſſings for his Pains:
Which through the Prov'dence of a Divine Hand,
Are thrown to him in all parts of the Land,
Both Bread and Wine in plenty, Raiment too,
Are granted him to guard cold Winter through:
She having yeilded unto him ſuch ſtore,
As yet from her he can expect no more;
She now lies ſtill, not having more to give,
Though ſhe ſhould promiſe, yet ſhe'd now deceive;
For now ſhe hath her Winter Garb put on,
Her out-ſide now is paved as with Stone.
The Solar Heat is wanting, and thereby,
The Motion too, that elſe would her ſupply;
The Oblique Rays o'th'Sun are now ſo weak,
That th'frigid Bonds of Winter they can't break;
Who Captain-like now marches on this way,
And all commanded by him muſt obey,
Both Seas and Rivers, Shrubs, and alſo Trees,
Are forced to ſubmit to his Decrees.
The tender Plants are pierc'd, as dead they look;
The mournful Birds have all their Mirth forſook.
The Days are ſhort, Nights long and cold, I wot,
And all by reaſ'n Sol's to the Tropick got.
Of Capricorn, &c.

The Winter Quarter begins at ſuch time as the Sun enters the firſt Scruple of Capricorn, and that was December the 11th, about 14 minutes after 8 of the Clock in the Morning, 1686.

at which time six degrees of Scorpio doth culminate on the Mid-Heaven, and the first Scruple of Capricorn, and the Sun therewith rising in the East, the beginning of Cancer on the Cusp of the seventh, and six of Taurus being the Imum Cœli, Saturn is then in the twelfth degree of Libra, Jupiter in the tenth of Sagittary, Mars in the ninth of Scorpio, Venus in 20th of Sagittary, and Mercury in the 18th of Capricorn, the Moon in the 21st of Pisces. Under this Position of the Heavens doth the Sun make this Ingress; and from the Configurations therein will the Affairs of these parts be influenced and governed the three ensuing Months, December, January, and February. In this Figure we find five of the seven Planets above the Earth, viz. Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Sol, and Venus; and the three Superiours very strong in Essential Dignities: Saturn is in the ninth House, Mars in the tenth, Jupiter in the eleventh, and Venus in the twelfth; Jupiter applying to a Sextile of Saturn: These are admirable Configurations, and will have as admirable Effects.

The Winter is nothing else but the departure of the Sun from these Northern Parts of the Earth; by which the Inhabitants are deprived of the Heat thereof, and Cold, the great Enemy of Nature, doth then prevail; the Diurnal Ark of the Sun being then small, and the Nocturnal Ark great. It is also necessary that the Earth should once a Year be compressed with Cold; for its intrinsick Heat is thereby actuated, and so made more fit for a ready Production, when as the enlivening Rays of the Sun shall open its external Pores, and thereby animate the Nursery of Nature, as hath been by many well observed.

Of the Spring Quarter.

NOW is bright Sol, that glorious Lamp of Heaven,
To th' Equinox returned; thus makes he even
The Day and Night, and also doth revive,
With vigorous Heat, the Soul vegetative

Of Plants, whose fortune groweth on a straighter way to gold.
A Covering for the Lately naked Fields
The Trees whose Leaves in Autumn fell unseen,
Well now are long be covered again
In the same manner. And now doth the Spring
Appear to us in every severe thing.
The Eye doth now admire the verdant Looks,
Of fruitful Meadows, near the murmuring Brooks
Whose gentle Streams, as by their Banks they glides
Do lend their Ecchoes to the further sides.
The Fields do likewise shew hopes of increase
Of Wheat, and Barley, Rye, and also Pease.
Now doth the droppings of sweet April Showrs
Adorn the Earth with various sorts of Flowrs:
And also Trees with Blossoms furnished are,
Which promise Fruit, both well-tasted and fair.
Each Month doth now some new delight afford:
The merry Birds do likewise now accord,
To add Delights by their most pleasant Notes;
Yea, Philomel doth warble through her Throat
Her fatal Story, yet with pleasant Voice.
Thus Sol's approach doth all things here rejoyce, &c.

The Spring Quarter begins when the Sun enters the first Scruple of Aries, which is March the tenth, near 14 minutes after Ten in the Morning, 1687. And then doth the second degree of Pisces culminate on the Mid-Heaven, and the sixth degree of Cancer ascend in the East, the sixth of Capricorn on the Cusp of the seventh, and the second of Virgo on the Cusp of the fourth House, Saturn is ten degrees in Libra retrograde, Jupiter in 23 degrees of Sagittary, Mars in four of Capricorn, the Sun is in the beginning of Aries; Venus is eleven in Aries, and Mercury is 26 degrees in Pisces, the Moon 25 in Gemini, separating from an Opposition with Jupiter, and applying to the Square of Mercury and of the Sun; Mercury separates from the Square of Jupiter, and Saturn is in Opposition with Venus. Of the Superiour Planets (who are all essentially strong) Jupiter is the strongest. The Inferiour Planets are much debilitated. These are the Configurations gurations of his Vernal Ingress, and they are very remarkable; they that please may set a Figure.

The Spring is so called, because that then all kinds of Vegetables do bud and sprout forth, and this their growth is caused by the Fermentation in the Earth, agitated and attracted by the warmer Rays of the Sun; for from these Principles proceed all things; Heat and Motion being the cause of all Procreation; hence it follows, that where there is Heat, there must be Motion, and it is Cold alone that hinders it. Therefore it happeneth under the Equinox, that the Inhabitants have two Springs and Summers yearly, caused by the Sun's passage to and fro; for the Sun coming to Aries, they have Summer, to Cancer, they have Winter, but coming to Libra, they have a second Summer, to Capricorn, a second Winter. Thus much of the Spring Quarter.

Of the Summer Quarter.

NOW Titan mounted is unto the top
Of the Ecliptick: But there cannot stop,
Having touch'd his utmost bound, he must retreat,
Yet now doth he most vigorously heat
These Northern Climes; for now it is he darts,
All his most direct Rays into these Parts,
Thereby to perfect, and to Ripeness bring
That which his milder warmth fir'd up i'th' Spring.
As th' Days are hot, so are they long beside,
By reason Sol so near the North doth ride.
And though the Heat commands the lazy Swains
To sleep, and loll, refusing to take pains;
Yet now the Indefatigable Hand,
Which Joy doth gather in the Fruits of th' Land;
Which stored up in plenty, makes them bold,
And fearless are they of stern Winter's Cold.
Thus Summer's Plenty doth Provision yield
Which, gainst devouring Winter is our Shield.

The Summer Quarter begins when the Sun enters the first Scruple of Cancer, and that is June the 11th, near 48 minutes after Noon, 1697. Then do we find eleven degrees of Cancer on the Mid-Heaven, and eight of Libra ascending in the East, Saturn is six degrees in Libra in Sextile to the Moon, the Moon separating for the Square of Venus to the Sun, of Mars; Jupiter is seventeen degrees in Sagittary retrograde; Mars in Aquarius nineteen degrees, Venus four degrees in Leo, and Mercury is twelve degrees in Gemini, applying to an Opposition of Jupiter, who also applies to him, &c.

The Summer, quasi Summa Veris, is that season of the Year, wherein all Vegetables do attain their highest degree of Perfection, Strength, and Beauty, which is the Effect of the Juices fermented in the Earth, and in the Roots, Bodies, and Branches of all Trees, Seeds and Herbs being brought to their Perfection by the vigorous Heat and Power of the Sun, and by the same Sun will be parched and wasted, if not taken in their Season.

Of the Autumnal Quarter, called the Fall.

SOL now declines toward the Southern Part,
And doth on us, his Rays more weakly dart;
Hereby we feel far much less of his Strength,
And Nights with us exceed the Days in length;
Towards th' Antarctick Circle he doth hast,
To tell them there that now their Winter's past:
But farther than the Tropick cannot get,
For there his other utmost Limit's set.
To our Antœci, and Antipodes,
And t' all the Southern Parts, as well as these,
He now doth lend his warmer Rays, to bring
Forward to them their so-long-look'd-for Spring.
But here with us, the famisht Earth would rest,
She being with th' increasing Cold oppress.

The

The tender Plants with Cold being nip'd, have lost
Their Verdant Colour; now the hoary Frost,
With cold sharp Winds, takes from the Trees their Leaves,
And Isicles do hang upon the Eaves:
Winter draws near. Thus have I run through all,
The Winter, Spring, the Summer, and the Fall.

Jucunda Vicissitudo Rerum.

The Autumnal Quarter begins when the Sun enters ♎, and that is this Year, 1687, September the twelfth, at 12 hours 48 minutes P. M. at which time thirteen degrees of Aries is on the Mid-Heaven, and five of Leo ascending in the East; here are many Configurations, Mars applying to a Trine of Saturn, Venus from the Square of Mars; Mercury is Stationary in Square with Jupiter, Venus in Sextile with Mercury: under this Position of the Heavens, doth the Sun make this Autumnal Ingress; And from the Configurations therein will the Affairs of Europe be influenced the three ensuing Months, September, October, and November.

Of the Eclipses this Year, 1687.

IN this Year there will be but two Eclipses, and both of them of the Sun: The one of them happens before the Sun's Apogaon, and the other after it, and both of them almost central; so that there can be no Full Moon Eclipse this Year. Yet Argol is of Opinion, that the Full Moon on the 17th day of May, in the Morning, may be Eclipsed: but time will prove the contrary.

The first Eclipse will be on the first day of May, about three quartets of an hour after Noon; it is celebrated in the 21st degree of of Taurus, near unto the Pleiades, that turbulent Constellation; it happens within a degree of the North Node, and therefore very great in its self, but not visible unto us: for at that time the Angle at the Moon subtended by the Semidiameter of the Earth (which we call the Moon's Parallax) is greater than the Angle of our Eye, subtended by the Sum of the Semidiameters of the Sun and Moon (which we call the apparent Semidiameters of the Sun and Moon) hence to us there can be no Eclipse. But it will appear very great about the Desarts of Lybia, Guinea, and to all places far to the South and South-West from us.

The second Eclipse will be on the twenty sixth day of October, about six of the Clock in the Morning; it happens in thirteen degrees of Scorpio, near the Stars of the Baffanee. This also will be a great Eclipse, but not to be seen of us, it being under before the Sun rises to us in England. It happens near the Moon's South Node, therefore very remarkable for its Magnitude and Effects. ——— Proclus of the portents of Eclipses, saith thus, Eclipsis Solis in ultimo decimo Pisce significat, Famem, sudores, &c in medio decimo, regis expulsionem pernitiem, averſum exercitus animum, & similia.

But these things are signified to those Countries which are subject to the Signs wherein the Eclipses happen.

Under Taurus are Russia, Campania, Lorrain, the greater Polonia, Rhetia, Franconia, Parthia, Persia, the Isles of Cyclades, Cyprus, Ireland, the Sea-Towns of the lesser Asia ——— Of Cities and Towns, Bononia, Sena, Mantua, Tarentum, Sicilia, Parma, Brixia, Tigure, Laterne, Nantz, Eſſex, Taponia, Guelnam.

Under Scorpio are, Norway the higher, Bavaria, Cimegina, Cappadocia, Idumea, Mauritania, the Kingdom of Fesse, Gethulia, Catalonia, ——— Of Cities and Towns, Algiers, Valentia in Spain, Trapezant, Urbinum, Aquilaia, Piſtorium, Turpinum, Forum Julium, Meſſana, Monachium, Vienna in France, Frankford upon Oder.

And of these Places where the Eclipses are most apparent, there will their Effects also be.

Con-

Q. Q. were last Year presented with two Nativities carefully observed, of which the Common Astrology could give no account of their Deaths, although they were both dead: If these, and others the like were duly considered, no question but that they would be caution sufficient to the Astrologer, to be both sparing and modest in his Judgment. For though Astrology of late Years hath been much improved, yet you may see how far short it is of giving that Certainty and Satisfaction, which by many is expected from it. Indeed it is a thing most notorious, and without dispute, that the Stars have their Influences; yet it may be supposed, that we are not so certain as we might be, after what manner their Influences are raved upon us; considering also that the virtue of the Stars extendeth not to the compulsion of our Will, having no farther power than to increase, excite, and stir up the Humours; whence ariseth a strong Inclination to this or that; and not otherwise do the Stars affect our Souls: for they being Spirits, are far more noble, and of more excellent Perfection than the Planets or Stars: There is therefore only a strong Inclination, and that may many ways be altered or avoided: First, and chiefly, by the Will of the first Cause, which is God, who ordereth, altereth, and taketh away at his pleasure, the Force, Vigour, and Influence of the Stars, restraining their Virtue, or else moving, directing, and enlightning our Minds, not to follow those natural Inclinations. Secondly, the good and bad Angels may do the same, being Creatures more noble than Man, or the Stars: Our good Angels are the cause of enabling that we refrain those Vices, to which by the Influence of the Heavenly Bodies we are inclined, and that we avoid those Dangers with which these Influences threaten us: Also Birth, Education, Custom, Place, Blood, Meat, Drink, &c. these may and do strangely alter our Inclinations. Again, Men having liberty of Mind, and free Will, they may of themselves, by Discretion and Reason, beware of, and avoid the Effects of the Influences of the Stars, according to that saying of Ptolomy, in the fifth Aphorism of his Centiloquium; A Man that is skilful in the Science of Astronomy, may foresee and avoid many Evils to happen, although by the Stars they may seem to be portended.

And

And thus though Saturn incline to Melancholy, Stubbornness, Deceit, Frowardness, &c. yet may good Education, good Company, Custom, &c. cause an utter abhorrence of such Vices. Though Mars incline to Rashness, and Cruelty, &c. yet may he that doth earnestly endeavour, bridle his Passions in like manner, may be check'd the Wantonness of Venus, the Subtilty, Craft, and Deceit of Mercury, &c. Hence it doth appear, that Man's Fate is not necessitous and absolute, but contingent and voluntary; for the Stars work not upon the Intellect immediately, but upon the Humours; and they communicate to the Senses, and so the Intellect is informed: For,

Nihil in Intellectu, quod non prius fuit in Sensu.

FINIS.
